We met in September for a 'free choice' book selection from the long-list of the Booker Prize. The Booker Prize was founded in 1969 and is the world's most influential literary prize for a single work of fiction written in English and published in the UK and Ireland. Its winners and short/long list authors are recognised as the best in their craft for the award year. Previous winners have included Iris Murdoch, Patrick White, Salman Rushdie, Margaret Atwood, Peter Carey and Kazuo Ishiguro.

We will meet 8th October at 6:30 pm to discuss Liberation Day by George Saunders. Hope to see you there and Happy Reading.
